THE EXPERIENCE

What you can explore

1

An account centered on music

Artists have their own profile and library. Their identity stays separate from content creator and creative professional accounts.

2

From a file to a release

Add a recording and cover, prepare its information, listen privately and publish the track in Music. You can also withdraw a release.

3

An experience for the listener

Published tracks can be discovered in the catalog, opened on the artist profile and played within the demo. Uploaded files remain in the browser.

Your first visit

1. Open the artist workspace and prepare a sample track.
2. Review its cover, details and private playback.
3. Publish in the demo and check the listener experience.

Explore Music Studio

We want to understand how you present your music and which release tools you need. External distribution, rights, royalties and service terms will be defined before real operations begin.
